MOB RIOTS AT BRIGHTON

Men Break Every Window in House Where Suf-ragettes Hide.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.

LONDON, April 20.—The suffragettes defied the police order prohibiting them from holding Sunday meetings in various places and therefore had to run for safety today under police protection from an angry crowd in Hyde Park. The brilliant weather, added to the expectation of a row, drew a bigger crowd than usual.

The women did not attempt to speak from a platform, but darted around singly and in twos and threes and urged "Votes for Women." Then they attempted to make speeches. Not one of the women was able to get out more than a few words before the mob rushed at her and began hooting and shouting her about.

Several hundred policemen were on duty and they immediately pounced on the men with a view to saving the women from violence and getting them out of the park. The officers in every case took the women by the arms and led them toward the exit, but none of them was allowed to speak. The crowd rushed at each woman and pelted her and also threatened the police. The crowd appeared to be angry at the police for keeping them from their prey and the constables were made the targets of missiles as well as the women.

There was some rough scuffling and there and at times the police were swamped by the mob. An elderly woman dressed in a fashionable gown was taken into the hands of the mob and lost some of her clothing, notwithstanding the efforts of the police to rescue her. Other women were hustled about in the park and at times the police were swamped by the mob. An elderly woman dressed in a fashionable gown was taken into the hands of the mob and lost some of her clothing, notwithstanding the efforts of the police to rescue her.

When the women reached the streets and the park they were no better off. They were hostile crowds everywhere. Some fled in cabs and others were less fortunate were attacked by the mob. In two instances residents of houses adjoining the park who were used to compassion for the women and the doors of their houses were broken in at the peril of having their houses smashed. The mob, however, did not attack the houses, but contented with hoots and howls.

It is probable that some of the women were hustled about the streets and at times the police were swamped by the mob. An elderly woman dressed in a fashionable gown was taken into the hands of the mob and lost some of her clothing, notwithstanding the efforts of the police to rescue her. Other women were hustled about in the park and at times the police were swamped by the mob.

A crowd of women tried to hold a meeting at Wimbledon Common. Some thousands of persons were waiting for them there and the usual police force was present. These men, instead of preventing the meeting, which had been forbidden by the Metropolitan Police authorities, devoted all their energies to protecting the speakers, about whom they formed a ring while the crowd roared and howled. It was not until a crowd pressed toward the platform in a threatening manner that the police charged the women.

A meeting held by the women at Hampstead Heath also drew a noisy crowd. The police broke up the meeting on the ground that it was obstructing traffic.

There was a big row at Brighton, where some suffragettes made speeches on the promenade. A huge crowd gathered and hooted and jostled them. They also threw pebbles at the speakers. The women tried to persuade the women to leave. They did so, but were followed by an angry mob, which on seeing public women enter a house on Victoria road bombarded it with stones and nearly every window in the place was broken. The police then charged and made three arrests. This attempt was made to rescue the prisoners. The prisoners were held by the police and landed in the station house.

An improvised bomb similar to those previously found was picked up in the doorway of the Yorkshire Herald at Brighton today. It was wrapped up in the usual suffragette papers.

CHILD DIES IN GRASS FIRE.

Eight-Year-Old Says Man Started Blaze With Match.

BRIGHTON, N. J., April 20.—A farmer of Secaucus, died of a heart attack in the North Hudson hospital yesterday morning. The girl's parents, who were visiting in the city, were told the doctors in the hospital that after they had gone she had been found lying on the ground near the house. A fire had broken out and after lighting his pipe he was found lying on the ground near the house. A fire had broken out and after lighting his pipe he was found lying on the ground near the house.

MARSHALL ASSAILS LAWYERS.

Says They Encourage Divorce Suits to Pocket Fees.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Friends of the Wilson administration are beginning to scratch their heads and ask one another: "What are we going to do with the Vice-President?" Mr. Marshall's speeches against "the thoughtless rich" are giving them a lot of work.

Advice to young lawyers is the subject of Mr. Marshall's latest remarks. Speaking at a banquet of the George Washington University Law School last night, Mr. Marshall said:

"I recall the day when a man came into the lawyer's office and asked: 'Am I right?' 'You are,' he asked. 'Can I win?' 'They simply want to know how close they can shave the penitentiary door.' 'The divorce court,' added Mr. Marshall, 'is a matter of temptation in the way of a young lawyer. When the system of allowing attorneys' fees in divorce cases has been abolished, when we shall have stopped one-half of the divorces in the United States, in many cases the applicant for divorce consults the lawyer in the heat of anger, and he, seeing the opportunity to pocket about $50 in advance fees, encourages the suit.'

"The poor man," said the Vice-President, "should be advised by a lawyer. The State when he has just claimed for damages against a corporation. That would discourage the paying of fees on a contingency. The wealth of the client should have nothing to do with his ability to get a good attorney when his claim for damages is just."

KING MANOEL TO WED RELATIVE OF KAISER

Former Ruler of Portugal
Will Marry a Princess of Hohenzollern.

Special Cable Despatch to The Sun.

BREITENBURG, April 20.—Former King Manoel of Portugal is betrothed to Princess Augustina Victoria, daughter of Prince Wilhelm of Hohenzollern, a relative of the Kaiser's. The formal announcement has not been made, but it is understood that the arrangements have been completed and the official statement will soon be forthcoming.

King Manoel is now visiting Sigmarburg Castle, the home of Princess Augustina's father, and he has spent much of his time there since last fall. The marriage will not bring the former King into close relationship with the Kaiser, even though Kaiser Wilhelm and Prince Wilhelm are both Hohenzollerns, although they are distant relatives. The Kaiser calls the Prince "cousin," but the blood relationship between the two would be found hundreds of years ago.

Princess Augustina is the daughter of a reigning family her father was an direct succession to the throne of Rumania. He renounced his right of succession in Baden Baden in 1888. The present Prince of the family has remained quietly most of the time in his historic castle, pitched on a high crag rising above the town of Sigmarburg, in Hohenzollern.

The rumor of the impending betrothal looking and young. She was born on August 15, 1890. She is the eldest child of her father, but has two brothers, who are twins, born a year after she was. One of these young men, Prince Friedrich Victor, the heir presumptive, has acquired a reputation for daredevilry, his stunts with aeroplanes particularly having won him great admiration.

The rumor of the impending betrothal has been spread before, ever since it began to be noticed that King Manoel was spending much of his time in Sigmarburg.

The family to which the Princess belongs is the only Hohenzollern family which belongs to the Roman Catholic Church.

TO ACT AGAINST GLOVER TO-DAY.

Democrats Will Ask That an Investigation Be Made.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Ten Democratic members of the House met to-day and decided to present a resolution to-morrow reciting the facts attending the assault by Charles C. Glover, president of the Riggs Bank, on Representative Thaddeus W. Sims of Tennessee.

The resolution will provide for the appointment of a committee to make an inquiry into the facts and to determine what procedure shall be followed in halting Mr. Glover before the bar of the House, if the committee decides that Mr. Glover brought himself into contempt by assaulting Mr. Sims for statements made by the latter in the course of public speeches. Representative Finis J. Garrett of Tennessee will introduce the resolution.

There is some opposition to action in the case based on the alleged unwillingness of Mr. Sims to countenance an inquiry.

Yesterday friends of Mr. Sims asserted that the first move would be to hale Mr. Glover before the House for contempt on a prima facie statement of the alleged facts, but this programme has been changed. It has been decided that the better course would be to ask for an investigation first.

GOVERNOR IN CHURCH PULPIT.

New Jersey Executive Says Course
Has Biblical Precedent.

ASBURY PARK, N. J., April 20.—Gov. James F. Fielder addressed an audience at the Second Methodist Episcopal Church here this afternoon on jury reform in a service during which hymns were sung and prayers offered which declared the consideration of civic affairs amid churchly surroundings not without biblical precedent.

Gov. Fielder's demand for the selection of jury commissions by Supreme Court Justices was approved by the audience and by Leon R. Taylor, Speaker of the Assembly, who also spoke.

CALIFORNIA MAY LET ANTI-ALIEN BILL DIE

Legislators of Both Houses Disturbed by Wilson's Stand.

FARMERS MAKE THREATS

Politicians Say Constituents
Demand Drastic Action Against Foreigners.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 20.—Opinions expressed here to-day by legislators seemingly indicate that no alien land bill will be passed at this session.

The members of both houses are not only disturbed by the stir created by the proposed legislation and the stand taken by President Wilson in urging that if a bill is passed it shall apply to all aliens, instead of striking alone at the Japanese through their ineffectual citizenship, but they are finding fault with certain features in both the Senate and the House bills.

The Senate subcommittee's substitute bill is directed against land holding by all aliens and the House bill is directed against the Japanese alone, and has therefore proved more offensive.

The Thompson-Birdsall or Senate bill is offensive to many because it bars out foreign corporations a majority of whose stock is held by those who are not citizens. From all parts of the State petitions have been sent against this feature and they have been so numerous that it is not believed a majority could be secured for it.

President Wilson has expressed himself as preferring this measure to the House bill, inasmuch as it discriminates against all aliens and does not specifically bar the Japanese.

Nevertheless there is a large faction that seems determined to vote for some legislation that will bar out Japanese. There is still a third group that is opposed to all legislation against aliens at this session.

Senator Birdsall evidently appreciates the fact that opposition to the measure is such that it will accomplish the defeat of any alien land bill at this session, for he said to-day that if this Legislature doesn't pass an alien bill of some kind the people will make it the subject for initiative proceedings.

Senator Gates said to-day: "I don't know how this is coming out, but I think that we are going to look foolish. There is no question that the Japanese belong to the Arvan family, the same as we do, and when it comes to a test before the United States Supreme Court as to their right of citizenship, it looks to me as if it would have to be conceded."

The House bill provides that aliens may hold property for one year, after the expiration of that period the property shall be subject to a lien for the State. The Senate bill provides that the lease holding time for aliens shall be for not longer than three years with no renewal after that period. This would eliminate the Japanese farmer in California, which the American farmer there is very anxious to accomplish.

Legislators representing farming districts are in more or less of a predicament, as their constituents are anxious to see an alien land measure passed.

Democrats in the upper house have been the strongest supporters of anti-alien legislation, but since definite word has come from the Administration at Washington desiring no discriminatory action against the Japanese, they are trimming their sails somewhat.

Senator John R. Curtis on the Democratic side have been in favor of making the proposed Senate bill strike only at Japanese and allow all aliens who can become citizens to own or lease California land.

The suggestion from the Administration that Senators of the minority in peculiar position, especially those who were horses like Senator Caminetti, who are looking for a place at the Administration pie counter for the next four years and who cannot afford to offend the President on that account.

"There is nothing in our bill as it is now drawn that is in violation of the recommendation of Secretary Bryan," said Senator Shannahan to-day. "If we pass this bill we are cutting out all all aliens and doing just what the Administration desires."

The anti-alien bill stands ninety-second on the file for to-morrow and if it is reached the pending amendments will be taken up for consideration. These amendments provide that aliens eligible to become citizens and who declare their intention of becoming such shall not be barred by the act and also exempt all oil, mining and timber lands from the provisions of the bill, thereby leaving means whereby the resources of the State can be developed by foreign capital.

TOKIO REGAINS ITS TEMPER

Despatches Telling of Wilson's Opposition to Bill Received.

SPECIAL CABLE DESPATCH TO THE SUN.

TOKIO, April 20.—Despatches received here from Viscount Chinda, the Japanese Ambassador at Washington, asserting that President Wilson is opposing the bill prohibiting Japanese from holding property in the Pacific Coast State, have had a calming effect on the people here.

Count Okuma, the former Premier, in a speech on the situation to-day recalled in an ironical manner the fact that America first invited foreign humanitarianism into the Japanese and said the latter now had an opportunity of teaching it to the Californians.

The Japanese Consul at Vancouver, B. C., is quoted as saying that British Columbia, Saskatchewan and Manitoba are now threatening to pass anti-Japanese legislation.

$1,000,000 FOR BOSTON SYMPHONY

Major Higginson, Founder, Endows
It in His Will.

BOSTON, April 20.—Major Henry I. Higginson has made the Boston Symphony orchestra, which he founded, a beneficiary in his will to the extent of $1,000,000 to perpetuate the organization.

This fortune will be held in trust, the income to meet the annual deficit which the Major seems to believe will occur with as much regularity after his demise as it does now.

"It is my desire," Major Higginson said, "to have the orchestra benefit all of the people. That was my early ambition in founding it. I believe that a man who lives for himself and his own individual interests is a poor specimen of a citizen and patriot. Each year there is a deficit at the end of the symphony season. Originally I had reckoned upon a deficit of $20,000 a season, but there have been seasons when the deficit reached $50,000."

THREE BIG BOATS BURN AT SHOOTERS ISLAND

Ferryboats Express and Fordham and Barge Sumner Destroyed.

Two ferryboats and a large in dry dock at the Shooters Island Shipbuilding Company yards in the Kill van Kull were destroyed last night by fire which started on one of the ferryboats, the Fordham, and quickly spread to the other craft.

Alongside the Fordham lay the long ferryboat Express of the New Haven railroad, which is used to ferry the "Federal Express" and other fast Washington trains around Manhattan Island. It has been out of commission for some time and was in dry dock. Next to the Express was the barge Sumner, owned by the McAllister Towing Line.

There is no municipal fire fighting force on Shooters Island and the flames spread to the other boats. They leaped quickly from the Express to the Sumner, and soon all three boats were burning. The flames lit the upper bay, and showers of sparks and embers were carried high in the air to fall hissing into the water.

The fireboat New Yorker and a fireboat from Brooklyn got to the island in time to save the 800 foot pier from destruction, and to prevent further spread of the flames on land. But the shore end of the pier and the three boats were destroyed.

After the fire had been blazing for an hour attempts were made to place several fireboats and fire companies on floats and tow them across the Kill van Kull to the island.

The shipbuilding plant is an extensive one, covering many acres of ground, and late reports indicated that several of the shops were on fire.

The German Emperor's yacht Meteor was launched there, and he came to America to see his boat take the water. At least one of the large municipal ferryboats was launched there also.

CALIFORNIA STOCK STARVING.

Trainloads Being Rushed to Nevada
Ranges in Drought.

RENO, Nev., April 20.—Stock interests throughout central California are alarmed because of the drought. Hundreds of thousands of cattle and sheep will starve unless they are hurried to distant places where feed is procurable.

The unprecedented lack of rain in the valleys, notably San Joaquin, has killed all pasturage, and urgent appeals by the Legislature for emergency orders authorizing the opening of forest reserves to stock.

Trainloads of cattle almost too weak to stand are being shipped into this State, one lot of 18,000 arriving yesterday at pastures at Winnemucca, where Miller & Lux, Moberg & Humphrey and other Californians own or control Nevada ranges.

CRIME A YOUNG MAN'S JOB.

Ninety Per Cent. of Wrongdoers
Under 30, Says R. C. Weller.

Deputy Assistant District Attorney Royal C. Weller talked to a large audience of young men yesterday afternoon at the Italian branch of the Young Men's Christian Association, 322 East 116th street. Mr. Weller described the breaking up of the arson gang, touched upon police graft and told of the truck thieves.

Mr. Weller said that 90 per cent. of criminals are men under 30 used by older men as tools. He said that most crimes are caused by drink or debt.

FIND BAD HALF DOLLAR MEN.

Detectives Arrest Two Carrying 35
Counterfeits.

Detectives Landrove and Johansmeyer of the Tremont avenue station were standing in a United Cigar Store yesterday when two Italians asked for a cigar and tendered a half dollar.

"That one is no good," said the clerk, and tossed it back. The two walked out without purchasing the cigar. The detectives followed them for over a half hour until they entered the cigar store of Max Stitzer, 1745 Bathurst avenue, with the officers at their heels. This time they bought a package of cigarettes and received forty-five cents change.

The detectives looked at the fifty cent piece and saw that it was counterfeit. Then they arrested the Italians, who gave their names as Giovanni Tuscanti, 242 and Giuseppe Sorropoli, 21, both of 2380 Belmont avenue. At the police station it was found that the Italian possessed thirty-two half dollars, all counterfeit, dated 1911. Sorropoli's pockets contained three more of the same sort.

Their room was searched, but revealed no further evidence. It is thought that the Italians are the tools of the gang responsible for a large number of counterfeit half dollars that have recently been passed in small shops and cigar stores in The Bronx.

H. B. WARNER'S WIFE DIES IN AUTO SMASH

Buried Under Maurice Cam-bell's Machine in Long Island Accident.

HUSBAND IS HURT TOO

Two Motor Cyclists Killed in Jersey—Score Hurt in Other Mishaps.

SEAFORD, L. I., April 20.—Mrs. Henry B. Warner, wife of H. B. Warner, the actor, was killed on Merriek road near here this afternoon when his automobile in which she was riding was struck by another machine which attempted to pass. The first machine skidded to the side of the road, turned half around and turned over.

Mrs. Warner was taken to the hospital at Babylon. She died there from a compound fracture of the skull.

In the automobile with Mrs. Warner were her husband, Maurice Campbell, a New York theatrical producer, husband of Henrietta Crossman; a woman who gave her name as Miss Fay Wheeler of 227 West Forty-fifth street, and George Sedley-Brown, Jr., of 123 West Forty-second street, New York, a stepson of Campbell.

In the second automobile were Edward Baker of 721 Albert street, Brooklyn, his wife and three children. The machine is owned by T. C. Steinway, piano manufacturer, of 107 East Fourteenth street, New York. Baker is employed as chauffeur for Mr. Steinway.

Both automobiles were going east on Merriek road at a fair speed, when Baker attempted to pass the machine driven by Campbell, who was holding to the middle of the road. Baker turned in too soon, and the rear wheel of his car struck the front wheel of Campbell's machine, sending it skidding to the side of the road. Campbell threw on the emergency brakes, the machine swerved to the left and turned over, burying Mrs. Warner under the tonneau. The others were thrown into the road.

The three men tried to release Mrs. Warner, but were unable to move the heavy machine. Wilbur Southard, in front of whose house the accident occurred, brought fence rails, the machine was lifted and Mrs. Warner dragged from beneath it. They carried her into the Southard home.

Dr. William Rohme of Wantagh and Drs. Rumsey and Van Winkle of Amityville, who were called, saw that Mrs. Warner was injured fatally and hailed a passing automobile, driven by Archie Patterson of Hempstead. Mrs. Warner was taken to the Babylon hospital.

Mrs. Warner died a few minutes after she was carried into the operating room. The story that Baker told Justice Gordon Norton, acting Coroner of Nassau county, differed from that of Campbell. According to Baker he had safely passed the Campbell machine before the accident occurred. He believed that Campbell must have increased the speed of his machine and then after he had caught him from behind lost control of the steering gear. Another explanation was that the windshield must have acted as a sail in the heavy wind which was blowing in their faces, turning the car from its course.

At Baker's home it was learned late last night that neither he nor his family had returned. Mr. Steinway, his employer, sailed for Europe last Thursday. The police do not know whether or not Baker had Mr. Steinway's permission to take out the car.

Warner is an Englishman, the son of the late Charles Warner, who made a world wide reputation in the play "Drink." He came to the United States in 1905 and played various parts until he made his reputation a few years ago as the reformed crook in "Alias Jimmy Valentine."

This role interested him so much that he made a study of prison conditions and made an appeal to President Taft in behalf of two British subjects who were serving life terms in the Atlanta penitentiary on a charge of murder on the high seas. In January, 1912, the President commuted their sentences.

Mr. Warner is playing here in "The Ghost Breaker."

Mrs. Harry B. Warner was the widow of Fred Hamlin of Chicago when she married Mr. Warner about four years ago. Hamlin had inherited a fortune from his father, who had made his money in oil, and was the owner of the Grand Opera House in Chicago. He was the original producer of "The Wizard of Oz" and "Habs in Toyland" and left a considerable fortune, of which his widow received a large part. She had no children.

Mr. Warner built a large summer home for his wife at Bass Rock, Mass., during the past summer. They had moved into the new home and had planned to have a housewarming.

AUTO FIRM EMPLOYEE KILLED.

F. B. Crosby of Alco Concern Planned
Beneath Car.

PROVIDENCE, April 20.—Franklin B. Crosby of the American Locomotive Company, which manufactures the Alco automobile in this city, was killed in an automobile accident on the road between Brockton and Taunton this afternoon. John Letting, another employee of the company, who accompanied Crosby in the machine which the latter was driving, escaped with bruises. The car was one of the high powered test machines of the company.

Crosby was planned underneath, while his companion was thrown clear of the machine.

Crosby, who recently came here from New York, had started out from Boston with the car, taking the long route to this city. One minute ahead on the

AUTHOR TO EXPLORE AFRICA.

Next Month for Wilds.

LOS ANGELES, April 20.—Stewart Edward White, the author, is outfitting an expedition at Santa Barbara to enter unexplored parts of Africa.

White intends to leave next month for New York to sail for Africa, where he will join H. J. Cunningham, who will be his only white travelling companion throughout the trip. Cunningham has spent the greater part of his life on the game trails of Africa and is a famous elephant hunter. He accompanied White on his former trip.

The territory selected for exploration lies southeast of Lake Nyanza. Other parts of the country which White and Cunningham will penetrate have never been visited by white men.

The trip will cover eight or nine months or more.

SULZER ADVERTISES HIS BILL.

Members of His Committee Also Distributing Copies.

ALBANY, April 20.—Gov. Sulzer has distributed several thousand copies of the "Sulzer bill for Statewide direct primaries and electoral reform" as he has named his primary bill.

It will be introduced in the Legislature to-morrow night.

Each member of the Governor's committee of 100 which is urging the bill has had copies of it to distribute throughout the State with the idea of working up sentiment for it.

FEAR RIOT IN AUBURN TO-DAY.

Police and Deputy Sheriffs Ordered to Report Early.

AUBURN, April 20.—Information received by the police to-night caused Chief Bell to instruct all his men to report for duty at 6 o'clock to-morrow morning at the plant of the Columbian Rope Company.

It is said that a large delegation of International Harvester Company strikers, failing to convince the Columbian operatives that they ought to strike in sympathy with them, will attempt to keep the Columbian employees away from the mill.

Sheriff Bancroft has ordered his deputies to be on hand. Charles A. Miles, organizer of the United Textile Workers of America, stated that he believed there would be no trouble, but determined efforts by a faction of International strikers, aided by Columbian strikers who did not like the terms of settlement, have caused the city officials to be ready for renewed riots.

CLARKSDALE LEVEE GONE.

4,000 Acres of Lowlands Flooded
After the Break.

CLARKSDALE, Miss., April 20.—Between 4,000 and 5,000 acres of low swamp lands in the basin at Wards Lake was flooded to-day by a break in the old levee early this morning.

The State levee, commonly known as the White River front levee, about noon to-day at Adams, Ark., broke above the recent break at Lahoma and at a point nearly opposite Deeson, Miss.

At 8 o'clock to-night, it was said, the flood had widened the gap to the extent of eighty feet.

Natchez, Miss., April 20.—The Mississippi gauge here at 6 P. M. registered 51.3 feet, one-tenth lower than the highest stage last year. The rise for the last twenty-four hours was three-tenths.

HIS PARTNER THE "ROBBER."

After Quarrel, Gets Moved Goods
While McNiece Was Out.

Detectives were summoned post haste to the clothing store of Harrington & Co. at 10 West Thirty-third street on Saturday. They were told that the place had been cleaned out by robbers. Yesterday they respectfully requested that they be allowed to cease their investigations.

James F. McNiece met them at the store, told them he was a partner and that while he was out a red moving van drove up to the store. A man in a light tan coat got out and followed the emptying of the store.

Following the quest of a red van and a light overcoat. The van was discovered in Washington Square and the contents of the store in a Twenty-sixth street warehouse. The man in the light overcoat was Franklin H. Gels, a partner of McNiece. The two had quarrelled and Gels decided to move away. McNiece was absent. Detectives told the two to settle their case in a civil court.

FOUR THOUSAND BAKERS QUIT.

Want $2 a Week Advance and Sanitary Shops.

Four thousand kosher bakers who were to strike on April 29 went out yesterday in Manhattan, Brooklyn and Brownsville for an increase in wages of $2 a week and sanitary bakeries. The bakers were due at work late in the afternoon, but instead of reporting for work went to their meeting halls.

Max Kasimirsky of the Journeymen Bakers Union said that the executive officers of the international union sanctioned the general strike for April 29 several weeks ago.

The Industrial Workers of the World, which has formed a rival union, filled the places of strikers at one bakery, but the rival union has so few members that it will affect the general strike very little.

MAN WITH THE HOE LOSES.

His Enemy Gets Ball and Marches
Off to Meet That Fence.

BLOOMFIELD, N. J., April 20.—John Peters of Newark visited his father's home on Mill street to-day and began to mail up the fence. John Prill, who lives next door, objected to Peters standing on his land to do the work.

There was a fight in which Prill used a hoe and Peters used his fists. Both were arrested and Judge Davis held each for the Grand Jury.

Peters got ball and fixed the fence. Prill, not being able to get bail, was sent to jail and couldn't interfere.

BOMB WRECKS NICK HAYES CLUB

Six Men Playing Cards on

EX-SHERIFF WAS ABSENT

Alderman White's Brother and a Steward Among the Injured.

DAMAGE TO BANK NEAR BY

Glass Showers Crowd When
Windows Blow Out at 3d
Ave. and 116th St.

A bomb exploded in Nicholas J. Hayes's Poussett Club, at 208 East 116th street at 12:30 this morning, completely demolishing the ground floor of the club and hurt several persons.

The neighborhood was shaken by the explosion and windows in all the houses near by on Third avenue and 116th street were rattled as if by artillery fire.

Ex-Sheriff Nicholas J. Hayes, whose name was brought out in the Curran investigations, is a member of the executive committee of the club and it is known as a Hayes organization.

The effect of the explosion was tremendous. The bowling alley was a mass of splinters when the crowds rushed in from the street. The whole ground floor was shot to pieces.

Six men playing cards on the top story of the clubhouse, which is a four story brownstone structure, were lifted from their chairs and hurled about the card room.

Among them was James White, a brother of Alderman John White.

Philip Berger, a steward, on the ground floor, was thrown against the wall of the parlor and so badly crushed that he was hurried to Harlem Hospital.

The windows of the Produce Exchange Bank at 116th street and Third avenue were blown out onto the street and the passing crowd was showered with glass. There were throngs on the street at the time of the explosion and the wildest sort of confusion reigned as the deafening explosion shattered the building.

Ambulances from all the Harlem hospitals were soon clanging around the club and the police reserves from the West 125th street station and the new Lenox avenue station were rushed to the scene in patrol wagons.

At the time of the explosion Berger, the steward, had just locked up the door of the bowling alley and was about to go up stairs to tell the card players that it was time to go home. Berger and the six at the card table were the only ones in the club when the bang came.

The family of Dr. C. R. Tinton Ellison at 206 East 116th street were thrown from their beds by the explosion and every window in the house popped out.

Stained glass windows in the Grace Emmanuel Episcopal Church at 212 were splintered, the whole front of the Panama barber shop at 204 was hurled out, the clock and suit concern of R. Schulman at 203 suffered and windows were broken in many other houses.
